

6 x 6: Six Artists, Six+ Pieces Show at Concord Free Public Library Art Gallery July 1 – August 22, 2014

The 6 x 6 Show, representing the work of six local artists, opens at the Concord Free Public Library Art Gallery, 129 Main Street, Concord on July 1 and runs through August 22, 2014.

Invited a year ago to hang this innovative summer show together, the artists will welcome everyone at an Artists' Reception on Tuesday, July 15, 5:30 – 7:30 when they will all be present for informal discussion of their work. The gallery is open six days a week: Monday – Thursday, 9AM-9PM, Friday, 9-6, and Saturday, 9 – 5.

The 6 x 6 artists are Tally Forbes, acrylics and watercolors, Wendy Israelite, torn paper collages, Jaehyang Oh, sculpture, Priscilla Parrott, mixed media, Marie-Louise Petrie, pastels, and Irene Stapleford, paintings on panel. Forbes, Israelite, Parrott and Stapleford reside in Concord; Petrie in Carlisle, and Oh lives in upstate New York.

The show features sculpture, acrylic, watercolor, india ink, pastel, and collage media work by these artists whose style varies between landscape and figure in both representative, and abstract expressions.

The 6 x 6 show highlights the combined commitment of these artists to speak their passion with their hands. It offers the viewer a wonderful opportunity to decide for themselves what speaks to them personally.
