

“Concord, which is my Rome”:
Henry Thoreau and His Home Town
Lecture Series

Saturday, September 23rd

5:00-7:00 p.m.

Concord Free Public Library Rotunda

Robert Thorson, Professor of Geology, University of Connecticut
The Boatman: Henry David Thoreau’s River Years

Join us for a lively talk by Robert Thorson, author of The Boatman: Henry David Thoreau’s River Years (2017), Walden’s Shore: Henry David Thoreau and Nineteenth-Century Science (2014), and many other Thoreau-related pieces. Professor Thorson will take listeners down Concord’s rivers with Henry David Thoreau, by sail and paddle, solo and with companions, exploring Thoreau’s travels, observations, thoughts, and theories relating to all aspects of his life on the water.

Light refreshments will be served.
All are Welcome.
